TUESDAY, DECEMBER 7.

When the Representatives of the Southern States withdrew from their places in Congress it was the unmistakable evidence that the Union was dissolved. The return thither of the actual, and not, as for many years, the merely nominal Representatives of the people of those States, ought to be looked upon by every true patriot as the best evidence that the Union is restored. The leading Administration organs, however, affect to view the fact that over sixty gallant gentlemen who bore arms for their States in the late contest are now in Congress, as a danger to the integrity of the Union. Sensible men see in it the surest pledge that the Centennial will be a jubilec year-a time for the oblivion of all recent sectional disputes, and return to the thoughts and feelings of the best days of the republic, when the example of Washington was made the standard of official life, and everybody felt that even in the suggestion of third terms there was danger to public liberty. There should be no distinction between representatives of the people. What is the use of the iron clad oath to perpetuate distinctions that can by no possibility serve to make the States of the Union more fraternal, nor strengthen the bonds which unite the varied sections of our common countrp. Let there be no bloody chasm to shake hands over. Close it up. Celebrate the Centennial. Let us have peace,

In the absence of any positive information concerning the manner of Tweed's escape and bis present whereabouts, rumor is active and takes many different shapes. The latest story is of a relative of Tweed's chartering a fine, fast-sailing bark, and smuggling the fugacious statesman on board in the twilight hours of Saturday evening and running off to sea. Although there are scarcely any facts that back up these suppositions, any one of them may be correct. Yesterday was the day for a hearing in court of the motion of the prosecution for a special jury in the civil suit against Tweed. His counsel applied for a postponement, and the court granted it until Wednesday. Sheriff Conner was in Brooklyn yesterday and had a long conversation with Chief of Police Camp bell, and rumor gained ground that in all probability Tweed was secreted somewhere in Brooklyn or on Long Island, and detectives were sent out with orders to scour the whole neighborhood. The Superintendent and Inspectors of Police are confident that if Tweed is in or near that city he will be captured.

The Secretary of the Treasury yesterday sent to Congress his estimates for the expenses of the Government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1877, the grand total for all departments being $814.612,608.48, which is $4,581,838.59 greater than the estimates for the year ended June 30, 1876. The appropriations for the current fiscal year were $16,864,502.32 less than the estimates.

-A girl of seventeen walked under the maples a month ago and gathered the golden leaves and said: "O, leaves, you remind me of crushed hopes and scattered plans." Her father found them in a nail keg the other day, and shook them down in a corner of the wood shed and said: "There, that dog has got just as good a bed as any canine in this town.'

HAVE FATHER AND MOTHER WITH YOU .-In boyhood an aged aunt said to the writer of this: "When you grow to be a man I advise you, if possible, to have your father and mother live with you. The blessing of God always rests upon the man who is the support of his parents. I never saw an exception to this, and never heard of one, and I am certain there never was an exception to this law of God." Well, that was thirty years ago, and so deep was the impression left upon my mind that I have ever since been looking for the exception, but have never seen nor heard of it. Remember, men and women, whose parents have been spared to you, if you would be prosperous, happy, and have the very best that God can give, hold on to the old people, and honor and obey them to the best of your ability. So says the Interior, and so say we.

KIDWELL BOTTOMS. - The Commissioners of the District of Columbia, in their annual report, just published, say: Along the present Potomac front the swash channel, that now floats a light draught sand-boat as high as the 17th street wharf, gives a wharf line of so little value that squatters have usurped the rights of the general government unopposed, and occupy the line. Between this and the river channel a belt of poisonous marshes

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Mr. John S. Hope, of Kentucky, was found dead in Washington, yesterday, where he has spent his winters for several years past, and arrived on Monday last and took rooms at the Imperial. On Saturday evening he retired complaining of feeling unwell, and remained in his room all day Sunday, during which time he sent to a drug store for laudanum, a total of about one and a half ounces. Yesterday morning about 10 o'clock the chamber-maid entered the room and was surprised to find that the Major was dead, although the body was still warm. He was born in Lynchburg, Va., where for years his father was editor of the Lynchburg News. During the war he was in the Confederate army, where he served with dis-tinction on the staff of Gen. Breckenridge and Gen. Dick Taylor, and as a reward of valor he received from the Confederate Government a medal in recognition of his bravery and distinguished services. His permanent residence

LETTERS FROM RICHMOND.

Slow Work in the Legislature-The Monumental Church-The Imboden-Johnson Difficulty--Imboden Bound Over--Fall of a Political Aspirant. Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

RICHMOND, Dec. 6.-Work appears to go hard with the present Legislature. After a session of scarcely one hour in length, to-day, they adjourned without doing anything of importance. The House Committee on Roads met to-day, the chairman, ex Governor Letcher, presiding. The subject of the extension of the James River and Kauawha canal was considered at length. The committee finally determined to request a joint session of the Senate committee to meet with them and look into the matter.

Next Sunday the Monumental (Episcopal) church will be opened for the first time since months. During that time the church has been newly painted and frescoed. Major Von the latter work. As to its merits there are varied opinions. The artists here think the whole work a complete travesty. I am told | blessing. that the entire ceiling is frescoed in the most Point Academy, has been detailed as Judge florid style-not at all in keeping with the style of architecture. The life-size figures of the Apostles are in some unaccountable manner mixed up with an army of whales, dolphins, or such large fish, while gaily colored cherubims wink and blink at a fellow from all corners. Again there are other gentlemen here who contend that the whole, as a work of art, is grand beyond description. Of the merits or demerits of the work I am not just now prepared to speak, having never been down to look at it. I will certainly be on hand Sunday. The Monumental had the reputation at one time of having the best music in Richmond, but that day is about over now, the organist, Mr. Leo Wheat, baving left, and the choir scattered. A new organist and choir have been engaged, but whether they will draw the crowds the others did remains yet to be seen.

I understand a new daily paper will be started here soon-an administration organ. One or two of Grant's favorites in this city will have the control of the paper.

General Imboden again appeared before the Police Court this morning. The Justice demanded him to give surety in the sum of $1,000 that he would keep the peace, which he still refused to do. He was then committed to the of the most valuable real estate in our city, custody of the jailor, and at once proceeded to valued at many millions, and also Government take copies of the papers in the case on which to sue out a writ of habeas corpus. He afterwards consented to give bail, which he did, with Mr. Franklin Stearns as his surety. He then took an appeal to the Hustings Court.

If Imboden fights now his triends must pay the thousand dollars. I understand his coun-butcher. Mr. Rush Burgess, for some years here greatest legal mind. collector of the revenue of this district, and I have spoken of hard times and troubles, so who ran for Congress against Gilbert C. Wal- we may, from present outlook, not expect a ker, is now the proprietor of a butcher stall in gay winter among fashionable people. Some the Second Market, in this city. He is happy, may be able to give entertainments, but if and says he will never be a politician again-

To-morrow night the caucus for the nomination of State officers will be held. When that is over the Legislature will work some.

Colonel William S. Gilman, one of the members of the House from this city, is the writer of the able "Capitol Notes" in the Richmond Enquirer.

Some of the members of the recently appointed House committees will, I understand. tender their resignation, not being satisfied with the disposition the Speaker made of STRONGBOW.

RICHMOND, Dec. 4.—A general stagnation pervades both houses of the Legislature to day. Indeed little or no progress will be made until the State officers are elected and the Senatorial estimates for the support of public schools for question disposed of. On Wednesday the elec- 1876-7, and Mr. C., being present, explained tion of the following officers will take place :-Secretary of the Commonwealth, Auditor of Public Accounts, Second Auditor, Superin- mous vote. tendent of Public Printing, Superintendent of the Penitentiary, and General Agent and Storekeeper of the Penitentiary. Of the present dent of the Penitentiary, and Storekeeper of all I can see, although he may have a hard fight, I think he will be re-elected. It is difficul to say how the contest for Second Auditor will end. I think Gen. Rogers will be hard to for Penitentiary Storekeeper, and next to him Of course the Senatorial contest is ahead of every thing, and next to that, I think, more interest is felt in the race for Penitentiary Storekeeper, owing to the large number of candidates. From present appearances Goode's chances are lessening and ex-Gov. Letcher is coming up considerably. I was astonished last night upon visiting the hotels and conversing with members to find how many will go for Letcher on the recond and third ballots. Letcher's chances are good if Johnson and Goode both gentlemen will compromise on the old ex- county. Governor. Major Daniel's chances are increasing. Indeed he gains strength daily. This may be accounted for by the fact that many of take care of certain indigent persons in this the members of both houses have recently be- | county. come for the first time personally acquainted with him. He is a gentleman of such winning and county with iron bed-steads was referred manners that he makes friends wherever he goes. From the present outlook, however, it will be between Letcher and Johnson.

The police court was again occupied to-day with the case of Gen. John D. Imboden. The former warrant against him was quashed and another made as follows: "I have reason to believe that there is good cause to fear that any man who calls himself a gentleman, upon whom such insults have been heaped as Gen. Johnson has upon Gen. Imboden, that he (said Imboden) will commit a breach of the peace." A motion was made to quash this, but was overruled. Mr. Cabell, the Commonwealth's Attorney, who swore out this warrant, gave as an additional reason for thinking that Gen. Imboden intended breaking the peace

The Senate Committee began investigating the contested election case of Knight vs. Johnson to-day, but did not make much progress. The resolution offered to-day by Mr. Mc-Mullan, looking to the expediency of reducing the pay of members and officers of the General Assembly to $5 per day with a like ratio of reduction in the salary of all the officers of the strictly prime. Corn is dull and lower; offerings Capitol and their clerks, may pass, so far as the pay of the members is concerned, but will go no farther.

The appointment of the standing committees course causes some grumbling, but as a whole it appears to be the general impression that the Speaker did well.

A petition for the pardon of W. D. Coleman has been presented to the Governor.

Letter from New York.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.] NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The winter now just coming in, to judge from the past few days, will be one of great severity. Still here, the its improvement. It has been closed over six mercury is very fitful, and has raised during the writer's remembrance, as much as forty degrees in twenty-four hours. To the rich, and Bulow, an artist, recently of Lynchburg, did those with nice warm houses, it makes no great difference, but to the poor, who are without money to buy fuel, a mild winter is a great Business of all kinds is dull, and merchants. lawyers, real estate dealers, savings banks, life insurance companies, railroads, all complain of very hard times, and greatly reduced earnings. 'Tis sadly true this great city has never before witnessed stagnation so long continued, and the past two years have brought wrinkles and grey hairs in great abundance. Some of our streets, in the business part of the town, formerly crowded with merchandise, now look deserted. Our men of finance shake their heads, (supposed to be full of wisdom,) and say the worst is yet to come, still they do nothing to assist the country, but keep their monies locked up in vaults, hoping some miracle will bring us prosperity again. One thing will do much to assist this city and the entire country, 'tis what has made Holland so very rich : "Economy." Let our ladies practice it, and they, ruling as they do, everywhere indirectly, will see the wheels of commerce, now stopped, begin to move again, and we shall all be pressing onward to fulfill manifest destiny.
